

HOWARD ESTATE, SCENIC SPOT, TO BE SUBDIVIDED

Bishop Trust Company Will Put Part of Property on the Market—"Howard Park" to be Fine Residence Section

Part of the well known F. K. Howard estate at Makiki, one of the beautiful spots of Honolulu, has been subdivided, and eight acres of the estate are to be sold as building sites for homes, under the name of Howard Park.

The property has been surveyed into 10 lots by Baldwin & Alexander. The lots are rather irregular in shape, the survey lines conforming to the contour of the land. Most of the sites are about 200 feet deep, with double frontages of about 150 feet each, and each lot contains an average of 35,000 square feet.

Keeaumoku street will be extended to give easy access to the property from two sides. The new subdivision will be put on the market next week by the Bishop Trust Company. The lots are all bare of buildings, but are well planned to shade and foliage trees.

Mr. Howard, who has closed his beautiful home at Nice, in France, because he prefers to reside in Honolulu, retains more than half of his land holdings in Makiki. The beautiful landscape gardens surrounding his home will remain intact, none of the finished gardens being included in the new subdivision, which will be known as Howard Park.

HILO BUILDING NOTABLE EVENT

zanship as in buildings foundations are most important, and that there is no foundation for good citizenship like a thorough education.

"The head of our census bureau in Washington recently spent two months trying to ascertain for me how many of the voters of the year 1896 are still alive today," said Mr. Cannon, "and his final report was that 51 out of every 100 of the men who voted then are no longer living. This impressive fact makes us value our schools, and is of especial importance in this territory which aspires to statehood, and has such a wide range of nationalities to amalgamate."

Rev. George A. Laughton of Hilo introduced the speakers, and 300 children of the Union school sang patriotic songs at intervals during the exercises.

EARLY NOTICES FOR CHURCHES REQUESTED

Owing to the growing number of churches and religious institutions which desire to be represented on the special page devoted to churches each Saturday, and the consequent larger amount of preparation necessary, the Star-Bulletin finds it necessary to request that notices be sent earlier in the week. It has been customary to receive notices up to Friday evening, but it is now desired to have all such matter in on Thursday evening. Pastors and other church officers who cannot at times give their Sunday programs thus far in advance are requested to send in a note with information as to when their programs will be ready. Address all communications, "Church Page News, Star-Bulletin." Cooperation will secure the best results and insure the accurate publication of church news and notes.
